Yo G-P here.

So apparently there is the Tanuki (Raccoon dog) and the Bake-Danuki (youkai raccoon dog capable of shape-shifting and stuff), but people usually associate one with the other anyway. I'll stick to the former and use the latter when she introduces herself. I tried upscaling the pages. Let me know if you like it. I almost got this done yesterday, but life's getting busier for me, so either the quality or the release speed is going to suffer a bit. You may have noticed the lack of redrawing around some text. Anyway, next chapter probably Thursday or Friday. I'm getting more into wine, so today's drink is a bottle of Nero D'Avola. Take it easy.

Just impregnate
your wife already
